The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency is investigating a defunct facility in Elk, where more than 1,000 containers are in disrepair and some are leaking hazardous materials into the ground.

The EPA announced Monday a federal warrant has authorized the cleanup of the 5.5-acre Superior Barrel & Drum facility off Jacob Harris Lane. The owner had refused the agency access to the land.

The containers, some unmarked or improperly labeled,, were discovered in August, the EPA said. ...
